

Mr President of the French Republic, you have to choose!

To be either a doctor, or a gravedigger of the biosphere: it is now our only alternative.

In 2017, you already knew what had to be done. Your commitments for the presidential election were unequivocal. You wanted to launch a democratic renewal, promote peace, give the people a say, equality between women and men, and so on.

You accused the "New World Order" of imposing terrorism on us and urged us to build a new society.

In 2019 you denounced the "Deep State" manipulating governments.

Six years later, what has become of democratic renewal? It's clear that we haven't made much progress. Quite the contrary, in fact.

The image of politicians is disastrous, because their actions are not aimed at the benefit of citizens and future generations, but often at the immediate interests of transnational corporations, the death industries and above all their financiers.

They are experts in the art of provoking a state of war, maintaining it, and then suspending their work of destruction when they see fit: during election periods, or when it's time to reap the rewards of reconstruction. The time has then come to sing the praises of "Peace" and "Liberation".

This deleterious oligarchy has taken most of the world's real power in its own hands. It is always provoking and fuelling terrorism, of course, but also playing on corruption, media manipulation, disorder, dictatorship, subversion, shortages, violence and deprivation of freedom. Here is its agenda: control, totalitarian imperatives and devastating conflicts all over the world.

But the worst is yet to come. This strategy of disaster is meant to bring total chaos: the "good major crisis" they are hoping and praying for, which will give them total domination of humanity, the ultimate goal of their "New World Order".

This "World Disorder" (D-mon), as it is more correctly called, is now very close to achieving its goal.

A Third World War is upon us.

As J.F. Kennedy once said, the casualness with which "some people send other people's sons off to war" is astounding.

Do they never think about their descendants?

Do they think they are safe from the insane risk of destruction that could befall humanity?

Do they have a second planet at their disposal?

Are they seriously counting on their augmented human fad to get them out of the bloody quagmire that is brewing?

How pathetically pretentious!

Some western peoples, undoubtedly ill-informed, seem to accept the intolerable behaviour of their governments, who wage military aggression, all too often for the wrong reasons, against countries with no real defences. In this way, industries are able to pillage raw materials and labour.

The Ukrainian disaster is the mirror image of all the perpetual wars, financial or military, that torment the peoples of the planet: they have been prepared for a long time by the financial industry.

The worst of it is that, given their exorbitant cost, these wars and the corruption that accompanies them are ultimately no more profitable than a system of fair trade in peace and respect, which would be the only serious possibility of stabilising the world's population.

But, like some of the most influential economic powers, the "D-mon" is unwilling to choose the paths of peace and quality of life, to which every human being aspires, preferring those of crime and corruption.

It pursues the most terrible aspects of its programme with unbounded pride, not counting on the awakening of the people.

Little by little, however, the general public is becoming aware of the true aims of the self-proclaimed "elite".

They are discovering that it is nothing more than a "putrid crust" that prevents the leaven of citizens concerned with the general interest from yielding nourishing bread for all in Peace and Freedom. According to the President of a major country, who is trying to work for the common good, most international leaders are not really interested in peace.

Yet they should know that, like all dictatorships of the past, the one oppressing us today will complete its course towards self-destruction.

You, who are not fooled, Mr President, are urgently needed to enlighten them!

If, until now, the balance of power has not been in your favour to launch your courageous programme, you could do so with the support of the people! Many of them are aware of the urgent need to build a new society. With or without a yellow waistcoat, they want nothing more than to rethink ours and reform it in depth.

Since 1989, Biosphere for Tomorrow (Bio-D.fr) has been giving substance to this desire by proposing a clear strategy and an innovative, coherent policy to mobilise healthy energies and launch this long-awaited achievement.

Building up the "Civilisation of the Third Millennium": (Bio-D), without being a political party, has drawn up a realistic and homogeneous programme, open to all possible improvements, wherever they may come from. It can be progressively adapted to all existing national systems.

Implementing our programme without delay. The broad outlines have been drawn up for reforms that will enable all citizens to express themselves, to work and to live in dignified conditions. In the space of a generation, it is possible to build a new way of living together in peace, for life, progress, non-violence and fraternity, with all the nations that wish to do so.

"The 12 referendums" summarise constructive and immediately effective actions. "Biosphere for Tomorrow (Bio-D)" proposes to implement them without further delay.

They are symbolised by the twelve stars of the "New Europe", which must be rebuilt on new principles, with the well-being of the people as its sole objective.

All our proposals are built point by point, on a human scale, and linked around the world by "The Ladybird Strategy". They will then be developed and energised by strong actions led by the most determined of the "Daktari": the caretakers of the biosphere.

The "Round of 12" will be an opportunity to try out a new way of living together in public spaces, peacefully, without disturbance, under the benevolent gaze of the real "Guardians of Peace".

Of course, all our participants must be able to be perfectly non-violent in all circumstances. It's another way of communicating peacefully without the risk of getting hurt.

The "12 Roads to Peace" are another beacon of hope.

For the first time, Peace is challenging War on the battlefield, in a peaceful struggle to transform the perverted world of finance, to transform the industries of death and bring about the eradication of weapons. You will find attached a document describing them in more detail.

The first Road was opened in Lisbon on 5 April 2023.

Its purpose is to draw a link between Lisbon-Avignon-Nuremberg-Kiev-Mariupol-Moscow-Vladivostok-San Francisco- Washington.

Its objective: to convince people that putting Peace on a forward trajectory is not only a possibility, but an obligation.

It is a question of survival.

At the end of the twelfth Road, an immutable peace should emerge for the entire planet.

In the meantime, the third stage of the first Road ended on 25 December 2023, in Pokrovsk in the Donbass. A military roadblock near the Doniesk front line asked us to turn back. The fighting was too intense to let through a foreign civilian driving the "Van of Peace".

My third trip to Ukraine, which began on 11 February in Avignon, is the fourth stage. Its objective:

1/ First to return to Nuremberg to encourage the Germans to resist the industry of death that has taken the government hostage. It has accepted without saying a word the humiliation of seeing a large part of the country's economic activity destroyed. And that will be nothing compared to the disasters that a 3rd World War would wreak if the "D-Mon" goes through with its plan.

Nuremberg has been marked by a history that is best forgotten by peace lovers. But a protective dove will undoubtedly mark the spiritual renewal of the city and change its destiny. All it takes is ten people working together to make it the symbolic German capital of peace.

2/ Then, to get beyond Doniesk to obtain a ceasefire and reach Marioupol by the beginning of April 2024 for the signing of the Peace Agreement.

A combination of favourable circumstances should help us to be punctual despite the problems on the field.

To my knowledge, the peace agreement drawn up by "Biosphere for Tomorrow" is the only one that could, in 3, 6 or 9 years' time, enable Ukraine to be reconstituted as it was before the start of the conflict. For this to happen, Ukraine would have to become the world's leading country for peace and disarmament. With confidence and fraternity restored, it would be possible to obtain the agreement of more than 2/3 of the population of the Donbass and the Russian government within 3,6, or 9 years.

One of the terms of this agreement concerns the roads of brotherhood.

These roads will be open as soon as the agreement is signed. Any person or organisation from either nation acting with peaceful intentions will be able to use these lines of communication.

Areas devastated by the war would be rehabilitated with the collaboration of the two former belligerents. Facilities, ports, airports and railways could be used fraternally, regardless of the political power ruling the region now or in the future.

Example of road layouts: Kiev - Marioupol, Kiev - Berdiansk, Sevastopol - Rostov on the Don, Tiraspol in Transnistria - Marioupol, Kiev - Odessa, Marioupol - Odessa.

Why should we take the risk of crossing a front line in a war as cruel as the one in Ukraine, traveling on a road and in a town, Doniesk, which are places of great danger?

This choice, to be on the front line after having sent a mere letter to the ambassadors in France is the result of the difficulties encountered by "Bio-D" over the last 33 years in communicating in our major media.

Clearly, peace, fraternity and the objective of carrying out far-reaching reforms to achieve shared progress in our country, France, and abroad, are not popular with the establishment in politics and the media.

Therefore the ability and the freedom to communicate must be our first conquest.

That's why those who have regular access to the media have a great responsibility in the face of the collapse that threatens us. When they have the opportunity, after choosing one or more themes, they should speak up, if only for a minute. There is a real need for in-depth information aimed at all citizens, so that they can involve themselves with confidence and enthusiasm in the challenge facing our generation. This is vital.

Mr President, we have everything we need to move towards success.

The most important political choice in the history of mankind is within our grasp, your grasp and the grasp of the leaders of the nations of the world, whether they are nuclear powers or not.

Who will rise to embrace this destiny? Will they be western countries or members of the "global south" ? The future will tell very soon.

Those who will be able to communicate to their people the principles of true life in the world of tomorrow. A world where the words peace, life, freedom, fraternity and democracy will take on their full meaning.

This is the path that leads to the summit and the light... with a few extra risks, of course.

Tomorrow morning, you will know

You will know if you seize this opportunity.

Remember, Mr President, really gravedigger or doctor, it is a choice between summit and light, or abyss and darkness, gravedigger or doctor, it really is our only alternative, the last chance before the chaos programmed by the " World Disorder.

If your answer is yes, there will be 7 with you. Seven billion.

If not, we will simply carry on with our project tirelessly.

We have no doubt that there are great and courageous countries that will seize this unique opportunity, together, even if they were once at war with each other. Are you thinking of Ukraine and Russia? So are we.

And to think that it might have been solved right at the beginning, within a few days, and even as early as 2014, if, ...with ifs we could remake the world ...

If you and all the governments involved in this Ukrainian fiasco don't follow us, we would ask only one thing of you: "Leave it to us".

... On 11th February 2024 this letter ended with "Leave it to us".

That was when I left Avignon in the "Van for Peace", to start on the fourth stage of the first of the "12 Roads of Peace" of "Biosphere for Tomorrow".

The goal is still Marioupol, via Kiev and Doniesk. On each of my three previous journeys, I crossed Germany and Ukraine as far as the Donbass. This is important to better understand the reality of the situation and better to imagine the near future.

On February 26th, Mr President, at a meeting of the "27 countries of Europe" in Paris, you said that sending Western ground troops to Ukraine should not "be ruled out" and that "anything is possible" in the future.

Even though the real needs*1 of this long-suffering people are quite different, you announced that the "allies" were going to send them even more medium- and long-range missiles.

Of course, your words were publicly disowned by a very large number of the countries taking part in your meeting.

However, you pointed out that "Many of the people who are saying 'never, never' today were the same people who were saying 'never tanks, never planes, never long-range missiles' two years ago". Does this mean that those who are saying "no" or hypocritically backing down today, will say "yes" when this idea has gained ground?

The "World Disorder" has the means to proceed step by step in conditioning the masses before taking brutal action.

You have just demonstrated its determination to enter fully into the conflict and open wide the Pandora's box.

In a way, it is the green light for the Third World War!

There is no doubt that your words must be taken very, very, very seriously. For someone who can unleash nuclear fire at any moment, there is an urgent need to clarify the situation.

Has the governance of the "deep state" you denounced a few years ago found its scout for the chaos they need for their "great reset"?

Are you really prepared to carry out this hellish mission to the end?

You still have a moment, a single moment, to think it over.

"Either being the doctor, or the gravedigger of the biosphere, is definitely now your only option.
